ABC'S!

directions: give each student a card. You can begin with any card. I usually start with the first one so when it gets back to me I know the game has ended and everyone has had a turn. If you don't have 26 students, you can give more than one card to more advanced learners or have the extra cards yourself to read. For older students, you can have them say the letter sounds instead of reading the letter.

Note: to help this activity to be less overwhelming when just introducing it or with students who do not know their letters or sounds, I will pass out the cards in order so that I know which student has the next card, in case I need to help! :)
